About Workshop

Keeping in view the fact that the solemn goal of education is to inculcate human values and professional ethics in the students, this workshop intends to train the teachers to be able to sensitize the students about the core issues related to any human being, such as his/her relationship with himself/herself, the family, society and the nature at large. The idea is to develop the right understanding about how one can live a harmonious and happy life in a society which is free from fear and appreciates the richness of and need for mutual coexistence with the nature. They will also learn a different perspective on the foundational human values such as trust and respect for a better harmony in their interpersonal relationships.

Registration
